Maybe adding a lab on creating own distro layer would be interesting. Also maybe adding a lab on distributing layers: an example using several git, using repo etc. Of course, this may need to adapt the duration of the course.

Probably very useful, depending on futur choices to be done by management.

Likely to become more useful a near future for next products.

What part(s) of the course did you like most?

create custom layers to support our needs.

All labs

What part(s) of the course did you like least?

linux-yocto....Yocto was pretty simple until we learned about that...
